a) Categories of membership:
   - Permanent members—a total of (...) seats
   - Non-permanent members with a two year term—a total of 6 seats
     Elected by the General Assembly, in accordance with standard procedure
   - Any new category
     Montenegro remains open for this option, if negotiations can lead to the compromise between groups with the opposing views on new permanent membership.
     Elected by the General Assembly, same as with non-permanent members

b) Regional representation
   - Montenegro supports enhanced and appropriate regional representation of all five regional groups. With the proposal for 6 new non-permanent seats, each regional group would receive one additional non-permanent seat, with the exception of the African group, which would receive two additional non-permanent members, for the reason to correct the historical injustice done to this continent. Eastern-European Group has seen the number of its members more than doubled in the last 20 years. Therefore it deserves one more non-permanent seat in the reformed Security Council.

c) The size of an enlarged Security Council—a total of 21 seats
   - With the above mentioned proposal for 6 new non-permanent seats, Montenegro believes that a total of 21 seats would be the most optimal solution for the size of reformed Council. Montenegro remains open for few additional seats, if there can be a agreement reached about new permanent or new category of membership.

   Working methods of the Council
   - Montenegro appreciates the efforts undertaken so far by the PS, as well as within the scope of other initiatives, such as ACT group, that aim to improve comprehensively the working methods, that is to allow for greater participation and closer following of the Council's work for non-members, especially from the perspective of a small state.

d) The question of the veto
   - Within the well-known realities that characterize this issue, Montenegro supports the French proposal on the voluntary veto restraint in situations of genocide, war crimes, crimes against humanity and ethnic cleansing.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly
   - Montenegro supports expanded interaction and cooperation between the two main bodies of the UN, within the scope of their respective mandates. Montenegro calls for establishing substantive dialogue between the GA and the SC.
Framework Document

G-4 inputs

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:

• Permanent members - a total of 11 seats

  - In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats: Upon adoption of a comprehensive framework resolution on Security Council reform, interested Member States prepared to assume the functions and responsibilities of permanent members of the Security Council would submit their candidatures in writing to the President of the General Assembly. The General Assembly will then proceed, as soon as possible, at a date to be determined by the President of the General Assembly to the election of the six new permanent members, by a vote of two thirds of the members of the General Assembly through a secret ballot. The rules of procedure of the General Assembly will be applied to the election of the new permanent members.

  - The criteria of Article 23 (1) should also apply to the election of the new permanent members: "due regard shall be paid, in the first instance to their contributions to the maintenance of international peace and security and to the other purposes of the Organization, and also to equitable geographical distribution".

• Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of 14/15 seats

  - The election process for non-permanent members will follow current practices.
b) Regional representation:

- The six new permanent members of the Security Council shall be elected according to the following pattern:
  (i) Two from African Member States;
  (ii) Two from Asia-Pacific Member States;
  (iii) One from Latin American and Caribbean Member States;
  (iv) One from Western European and Other Member States;

- The four/five new non-permanent members of the Security Council shall be elected according to the following pattern:
  (i) One/Two from African Member States;
  (ii) One from Asia-Pacific Member States;
  (iii) One from Eastern European Member States;
  (iv) One from Latin American and Caribbean Member States;

- Member States should give due consideration during the nomination and election of non-permanent members to adequate and continuing representation of small and medium size Member States, including Small Island Developing States (SIDS). Member States should also make full use of the possibility of cross-regional arrangements to ensure that the diversity of the General Assembly membership is adequately reflected in the Council.

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of 25/26 seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:

- An affirmative vote of 14/15 of 25/26 members of the enlarged Security Council will be required for a decision.

- The Security Council would be invited to consider taking measures to ensure that non-permanent members of the enlarged Security Council hold the Presidency of the Council at least once during their tenure.

- To enhance transparency and inclusiveness of its work, the enlarged Council would be encouraged to, inter alia, meet, as a general rule, in a public format; make more effective use of informal interactive dialogues; hold open debates on the issue of working methods; hold more regular and timely consultations with troop, police and financial contributing countries of UN peacekeeping missions.

d) The question of the veto:

- Member States should be invited to continue discussions on the use of the veto in certain circumstances.

- The new permanent members would as a principle have the same responsibilities and obligations as current permanent members. However, the new permanent members shall not exercise the veto-right until a decision on the matter has been taken during a review, to be held fifteen years after the coming into force of the reform.

- Amendments to the Charter shall reflect the fact that the extension of the right of veto to the new permanent members will be decided upon in the framework of a review.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

- The enlarged Security Council would be encouraged to, inter alia, hold regular consultations with the President of the General Assembly; submit an analytical and comprehensive evaluation of the Council’s work in the annual report to the General Assembly; submit more frequently special reports to the General Assembly in accordance with Articles 15 (1) and 24 (3) of the Charter; improve participation of the Chair of the Peacebuilding Commission and the chairs of the country-specific configurations of the Commission in relevant debates and, in an appropriate format, in informal discussions.

- Any other related matters:

- Upon adoption of a comprehensive framework resolution, a resolution containing necessary amendments to the Charter would be submitted to the General Assembly in order to be adopted at the earliest possible time.
The situation created by the amendments to the Charter would be reviewed fifteen years after their entry into force.

   • Member States should give due consideration during the nomination and election of non-permanent members to adequate and continuing representation of small and medium size Member States, including Small Island Developing States (SIDS).

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of (...) seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
   • To enhance transparency and inclusiveness of its work, the Security Council would be encouraged to meet, as a general rule, in a public format; make more effective use of informal interactive dialogues; hold more open debates; and increase the use of Horizon Scanning briefings and Arria-formula meetings.

d) The question of the veto:
   • Supporting the French initiative - regulation of the use of veto by the permanent members of the Security Council who would voluntarily and collectively undertake not to use the veto where a mass atrocity has been ascertained.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

- Security Council would be encouraged to hold regular consultations with the President of the General Assembly; and submit an analytical and comprehensive evaluation of the Council's work in the annual report to the General Assembly.
- The relationship between the Security Council and the General Assembly, in general, should aim for closer cooperation, including improved exchange of information; and better coordination (e.g., ensuring that Security Council and General Assembly meetings on the same topics are not held simultaneously).

- Any other related matters:
  - [...]
(7 May 2015)

a) Categories of membership:

- Permanent members- total of () seats
  [It is yet premature to specify the issue of this category of membership. Discussions on the issue of categories are now in the initial stage, and even if category issue is agreed, there will be next step to be considered on the modalities and procedures on selection and election.]
  [In the event of possible expansion of permanent membership, Japan is totally unqualified to be a permanent member of the expanded Security Council under any circumstances since Japan still denies to liquidate its inhumane war crimes committed against a number of Asian countries during World War II, which placed Japan under the term of an enemy state in the Charter of the United Nations. DPRK expresses deep concern at the approach taken by Japan. Our concern is that Japan acts as if she must occupy a permanent seat of the enlarged Security Council, taking as if there is already an agreement on enlargement of permanent seats of the Security Council. Moreover, Japan is the enemy state and defeated state that had occupied the Asian countries and committed huge crimes against humanity during the Second World War which had been the cause and motivation of creation of the United Nations, and Japan is the only country that has not fully and convincingly made recognition, apology and compensation for its crimes up to this moment, 70 years since the foundation of the United Nations. Japan is too much ambitious and impatient in the deliberations of the reform and this stems from its sinister and impudent purpose to bury forever its past crimes and the disgrace of enemy state through this process.]

- Non-permanent members with a two-year term- a total of () seats [Since enlarging non-permanent seats will be more agreeable, it could be a way forward to proceed first with the issue of enlargement of non-permanent seats.]

b) Regional representation:

- [It is very important to increase the representation of Non-Aligned Movement member states and other developing countries.]

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council- a total of () seats
   (ii) Working Methods of the Council
       [Impartiality, non-selectivity and democracy should be fully upheld in all activities of the Security Council. Now, the Security Council has reached the state whereby it is misused by an individual country abusing its status of a permanent member to pursue its own national interests, violating the international norms and principles of sovereign equality and non-interference in the internal affairs of other countries.]

d) The question of the veto:
e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

Any other matters:

[Overall process of discussions of the reform should be a process to guarantee and convince that all UN member states could be represented and included in an equal and democratic manner in the deliberations of international peace and security issues. In other words, the Security Council reform should be the process driven by all member states based on the consensus in a transparent manner.]

Since the purpose of the Security Council reform is to realize democratization of UN system, reform discussions and negotiations should not be swayed by the individual purposes and interests of any specific group or countries.

Any move to pursue the reform issue by simple majority or by setting artificial timetable cannot reflect fully and democratically the viewpoints and positions of all member states and rather will ignite differences and conflict of opinions.]
Questionnaire on Security Council matters

1.- Category of membership: The Dominican Republic supports the expansion of the Security Council in both categories: Permanent and non-Permanent members.

2.- Regional representation: The Dominican Republic supports the ownership representation.

Working methods: The Dominican Republic considers that the Security Council should improve its relationship with partners outside the Council. The Security Council should also increase the transparency of its work, making its role more interactive with its partners and ensure that these are better informed of the issues in which it deals. The Security Council should continue trying to hold more public official sessions as opposed to the practice of private consultations. The improvement of the Security Council working methods will make it more efficient and its decisions more applicable.

4.- Veto issue: The Dominican Republic supports the elimination of the veto. However, in order not to obstruct the SC reform, the Dominican Republic would support that the issue to be revised in 10 years.

5.- Relationship between the Security Council and the General Assembly: The Dominican Republic supports the strengthening of the relationship between the Security Council and the General Assembly, even advocating for a permanent seat of the President of the General Assembly in the Security Council in order to be more participative in the work of the Security Council like de Secretary General seat in the Security Council.

6.- Other matters: The Dominican Republic supports a Security Council comprehensive reform that privileges the representation of small states that never had had the opportunity to serve in this important organ due to its current structure. From a practical point of view, the Dominican Republic considers useful that the Facilitator of the reform of the Security Council obtained the views of the countries directly involved in the reform of the Security Council and process a document with the basic parameters of discussion, so that it is easier to generate specific negotiations.

HE Mr Courtenay Rattray
Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiations on Security Council Reform
Permanent Representative of Jamaica to the United Nations
767 Third Avenue, 9th Floor
New York, NY 10017

Dear Court,:

Thank you for your letter dated 26 March 2015 conveying the framework document and your speaking points for the IGN meeting on 26th March.

2 As requested, please find enclosed Singapore's inputs on the framework document. We would be grateful if you could incorporate our inputs in the master framework document. Singapore reserves the right to come back with further inputs as necessary.

3 Let me take the opportunity to assure you that Singapore will work with you, as Chair of the IGN on Security Council Reform, and other members of the IGN process, to achieve an outcome that will make the UNSC more representative, open, transparent, accountable and effective to deal with the many challenges before us.

4 Please accept, your excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Yours sincerely,

KAREN TAN
Ambassador and Permanent Representative

enc
b) Regional Representation of UNSC Membership:

- Increase representation of under-represented regional groups in the UNSC as this will help improve the legitimacy and accountability of the UNSC.

- Small States must always be represented in the Council as they make up more than two-thirds of the UN membership.

- If the Council’s composition does not include a small state, at least one of the existing Council members will be appointed as a representative for small states in consultation with the members of the Forum of Small States.

c) (i) Size of an Enlarged Security Council

- Expand the UNSC in both permanent and non-permanent categories of membership to better reflect current geopolitical realities.

(ii) Working Methods of the Council

- The Council should adopt its rules of procedures and disseminate them to all UN Member States.

- The tentative programme of work and forecast for the coming month, and changes to the programme of work, should be communicated to all non-members as soon as they are available to the Council.

- All Council members should be involved in the decision-making on the distribution of chairmanships of subsidiary bodies of the Council, ensuring that the country specific and thematic lead roles are distributed evenly and appropriately among Council members.

- The Council must ensure effective communication of its mandates and means of implementing them to non-members in clear and easily understandable ways, particularly for mandates that carry obligations on all Member States, for example, in implementation of sanctions.

• The Presidency of the Council should convene an open meeting at the end of its Presidency to communicate to non-members the key outcomes and deliverables achieved under its Presidency.

• Briefings by UN Officials to the Security Council should as far as possible be made accessible to all member states.

• Annual reports on the work of the UN Security Council, should be prepared, pursuant to article 15 paragraph 1 and article 24 paragraph 3 of the UN Charter, to: (i) assess whether Security Council decisions have been implemented; (ii) analyse obstacles to implementation and reasons for non-implementation; and (iii) suggest mechanisms or measures to enhance implementation.

In our view, the above changes to the working methods of the Council do not require amendments to the Charter of the United Nations and can be undertaken without prejudice to other aspects of the Security Council Reform.

Any reform must include changes to its working methods and must make the Council more accountable and transparent for all Member States, not just members of an enlarged Council.

d) The Question of the Veto

• New permanent members should not be accorded the right to veto as it would complicate decision making in the Council.

• Permanent Members of the Council should commit themselves to not using a veto to block Council action aimed at preventing or ending genocide, war crimes, and crimes against humanity.

• If Permanent Members insist on casting a veto that blocks such action, they should produce alternative proposals that will end such atrocities or clearly explain to all UN Member States why they are prepared to see the continuation of genocides, war crimes and crimes against humanity, and a copy of the explanation should be circulated as a Security Council Document.
• Establish a practice, in appropriate cases, of declaring, when casting a negative vote on a draft resolution before the Council, that such a negative vote shall not constitute a veto in the sense of Article 27, paragraph 3 of the Charter.

c) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly

• Increase the number of Security Council meetings in open format and that these meetings should provide real opportunities to take into account the views and contributions of the wider membership of the UN, particularly those non-member States of the Council specially affected by issues under consideration of the Council. However, more open meetings of the Council in themselves do not create greater transparency. Transparency depends on the scope given to non-members to understand, appreciate and access the Council’s decision making considerations.

• Provide frequent, timely and quality briefings to the wider membership of the UN on matters discussed in the informal consultations and in the subsidiary bodies.

• Non-member States of the Council specially affected by issues being considered by the Council should be given every opportunity to participate in the Council’s deliberations in informal meetings and informal consultations.

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:

- Permanent members - a total of 11 seats
  - (2 from Africa) (2 from Asia) (1 from EURACP) (1 from WEOG)
  - [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats.]

Upon adoption of the framework resolution on UNSC reforms by the General Assembly, member states desiring to assume permanent membership shall submit their candidatures in writing to the President of the General Assembly. The General Assembly will then proceed, at a date to be determined by the PGA, for the election of new permanent members of the Security Council, by a vote of two thirds of the members of the General Assembly through a secret ballot. As per established practice, the rules of procedure of the General Assembly will be applied to the election of the new permanent members.

- While electing new permanent members, the General Assembly would also consider the criteria of Article 23 (I) to the election of the new permanent members: "due regard shall be paid, in the first instance to their contributions to the maintenance of international peace and security and to the other purposes of the Organization, and also to equitable geographical distribution".

- Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of 16
  - The election process for non-permanent two-year term seats will remain unchanged.
b) Regional representation:

That additional seats be elected by the General Assembly as follows:

(a) Two permanent seats and two non-permanent seats for African States;
(b) Two permanent seats and one non-permanent seat for Asia-Pacific States;
(c) One non-permanent seat for Eastern European States;
(d) One permanent seat and one non-permanent seat for Latin American and Caribbean States;
(e) One permanent seat for Western European and other States;
(f) One non-permanent seat for Small Island Developing States (SIDS) across all regions

Regional groups shall coordinate to ensure that there is regular representation for small developing states in the non-permanent category,

c)(i) The size of an enlarged Security Council— a total of 27 seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:

- The affirmative vote of 15 out of 27 members of the Security Council will be required for a decision.
- To make meetings of the Council transparent and inclusive, the existing practice to hold closed meetings with no records will be abolished, and access will be given to non-members to the Council's documentation and records.
- The Council will amend its procedures so that items do not remain on its agenda permanently/beyond (x) years.
- Articles 31 and 32 of the Charter must be fully implemented by consulting with member states which are not members of the Security Council on a regular basis, especially members with special interest in the substantive matter under consideration by the Council.
- Non-members should be given systematic access to subsidiary bodies of the UNSC, including the right to participate in debates.
- There should be full and complete participation by elected members in pending resolutions.
- Consultation with and participation of Troop and Police Contributing Countries in decision making concerning peacekeeping operations must be made mandatory (as laid down in Article 44) and these discussions should be comprehensive covering the establishment, conduct, review and termination of peacekeeping operations, including the extension and change of mandates, as well as for specific operational issues.
- Countries having specific interest in particular agenda item must be invited to participate in consultations before an outcome document on that item is adopted.
- The Council should focus its time and efforts on dealing with issues concerning its primary responsibility of maintaining international peace and security as mandated by the UN Charter, rather than encroaching upon the mandate of the General Assembly.
- Before mandating measures under Chapter VII of the Charter, the Council should ensure that all efforts for the pacific settlement of disputes through measures under Chapter VI have been exhausted. In this regard, the Council must improve its cooperation with regional organisations, particularly the African Union. Such cooperation must be serious and include providing assistance for AU’s capacity building as per their requirement.
- The Security Council should ensure that non-permanent members of the Security Council hold the Presidency of the Council at least once during their tenure.

d) The question of the veto:
- The veto should be abolished. So long as it exists, it should be extended to all new members of the permanent category of the Security Council, who must enjoy all the prerogatives and privileges of permanent membership in the permanent category including the right of the veto.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
- The expanded Security Council would be encouraged to, inter alia, hold regular consultations with the General Assembly under its President;
- The Council should submit an analytical, substantive and comprehensive evaluation of the Council’s work in its annual report to the General Assembly;
- The Council should submit special reports more frequently to the General Assembly in accordance with Article 24 (3) of the Charter

f) Any other related matters:

Amendments
Following the elections of the new permanent members, to accordingly amend the Charter of the UN no later than twelve weeks from the adoption of the framework resolution on UNSC reforms,

Review

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

A) Categories of membership:

• Permanent members - a total of (..) seats
• Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of (..) seats
• Reform of the UNSC is necessary, since the composition of this body does not reflect the realities of the modern world. In the case of increasing the number of members of the Council we should take into account the (i) aspirations of those countries whose contribution to the work of the Organization is undisputed (ii) financial contributions to the UN budget, as well as and (iii) participation in peacekeeping operations with the UN Security Council mandate.

• Poland supports a reform that would grant an additional non-permanent seat for the Eastern European Group (EEG). Our position stems from the fact that the membership of EEG has increased from 9 to 23 countries, as a result of disintegration of the USSR and Yugoslavia. It should be however a part of a broader reform of geographical distribution.

B) Regional representation:

C) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of (...) seats
(ii) Working methods of the Council
- We support efforts to improve the working methods of the Security Council, aiming to make its actions more transparent. The Security Council should further enhance its cooperation with regional organizations, troop-contributing countries, the UN Secretariat and the entire UN system.

D) The question of veto:
- We are aware of importance of the principle of the right of veto of the permanent members of the Council. However, we should also take into account changes in the global international order, taking place right before our eyes. That is why recent proposals to reform the right of veto, including the French proposal to adopt a code of conduct in this respect, are interesting and worth discussing.

Liechtenstein Input

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:

- Permanent members - a total of five seats
- Non-Permanent members with a two-year term - a total of eleven (or more) seats
- New category: Six additional members elected to serve, on a permanent basis, for renewable terms of [8/10] years.

b) Regional representation

- The six additional seats with terms of [eight/ten] years shall be distributed as follows:
  I. two from African States
  II. two from Asia-Pacific States
  III. one from Latin American and Caribbean States
  IV. one from Western European and Other States
- One additional non-permanent seat in accordance with article 23, paragraph 2 for the Eastern European Group.
- The Liechtenstein Model leaves open the possibility of the creation of further two-year non-permanent seats in accordance with article 23, paragraph 2, of the UN Charter, and does not specifically address the number or distribution of any such seats.

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of 22 (or more) seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:

1 The Liechtenstein Model, as previously submitted on 26 February 2010, provides flexibility on the creation of additional non-permanent seats.

2 "On a permanent basis" refers to the fact that Member States could continue to hold these seats as long as they continue to be re-elected.
It is understood that the General Assembly will simultaneously decide on a set of measures dealing with the working methods of an expanded Council. Issues to be addressed include, but are not limited, to the following:

a. Majority required for decision-making: The majority required for decision-making in an enlarged Council is to be reflected in the necessary Charter amendments (art. 27 (2), 27 (3) and 109(1)).

b. Review of the working methods of the subsidiary bodies: A thorough review of the working methods is required, in particular on decision-making.

c. Council Presidency: Ensuring that every member of the Council will continue holding the Presidency at least once during its membership will require a change to the current practice.

d. Secretariat capacity: Review of the capacities and the resources of the Secretariat required to service an enlarged Council.

e. Practices and arrangements relating to permanent membership: Review of the privileges enjoyed by the Permanent Members outside the Security Council (e.g. membership in bodies such as ECOSOC and IGO, practice of distributing senior positions within the UN system).

f. Alleviating the workload of the Council: Ways to address the workload, e.g. assigning more tasks to subsidiary bodies on (sub)-regions. This would require extending the possibility of voting to subsidiary bodies.

g. Chairmanships of subsidiary bodies: Assigning chairmanships of subsidiary bodies in an equitable and transparent way.

d) The question of the veto:

It would be agreed that the question of the veto would be addressed as part of the review outlined under “any other related matters” below.
e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

- Any other related matters:

Adoption of the necessary Charter amendments:
The Charter amendments necessary would be annexed to a General Assembly Resolution.

Elections of the new members:
- Elections to fill the six seats with terms of [8/10] years shall be held after entry into force of the required Charter amendment and simultaneously with the regular elections of non-permanent members of the Security Council.
- Candidates for seats above shall not be eligible to serve as non-permanent members in accordance with article 23, paragraph 2, of the UN Charter for the following [eight/ten] calendar years.

Review:
[15 / 20] years after the first elections in the new category of seats the General Assembly shall review the situation. The review shall include consideration of the categories of seats, the creation of additional seats of any category, including permanent seats, a review of the question of the veto as well as the implementation of the measures to improve the working methods of the Council.

     - [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats...]

b) Regional representation:
In the event of Council enlargement, one additional non-permanent seat should be allocated to the EEOS. Lithuania supports an enhanced role of African countries in the Council. Any potential enlargement should not diminish the chances of small states to be represented on the Council.

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
   • Open debates on geographical issues of specific concern to wider membership.
   • Better time management at open debates. All states, both UNSC members and non-members, should observe speaking time limits. Consider establishing a ceiling for briefer numbers (e.g. three) at open debates for better time management.
   • Regular review of the work of the sanctions committees, earlier appointment of chairs of subsidiary bodies, public briefings by chairs of sanctions committees, renew the work/establish a working group on sanctions.

1 "(...)" denotes a space intended for numerical values whereas "[...]" is intended for the inclusion of text.
• Timely and meaningful interaction between the Council and TCCs and PCCs.
• More regular, meaningful interaction between the Council and force/police commanders.
• More structured follow-up to the annual UNSC open debate on working methods.
• Briefings to UN member states by penholders or sponsors of UNSC resolutions in the event of fast-paced developments on the ground or in the UNSC.
• More structured dialogue between the Council and the ICC.
• Make better use of interactive dialogues.
• Early involvement of all Council members in the drafting of Council resolutions.

d) The question of the veto:
• Permanent members should undertake to abstain from the use of veto in the cases of massive human rights violations, genocide, crimes against humanity, and war crimes. A voluntary code of conduct to this effect would be welcome.
• Consider requiring two negative votes, not one, by permanent members to make veto effective.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
• Focus annual UNGA debate under agenda item "Report of the Security Council" for more specific outcomes, proposals on improving UNSC-UNGA interaction in addressing various cross-cutting issues.
• Encourage to hold regular consultations with the President of the GA on pertinent SC and GA agenda items.

• Any other related matters:
• Election of Secretary General: make the process more transparent, inclusive, without contesting the UNSC prerogative to this effect. Enable main candidates to present their vision, priorities to the general membership. Have straw polls of general membership on the shortlisted candidates before final decisions are made, to see who would best meet the expectations of member states.

France

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

e) Categories of membership:

- Permanent members
  - The People's Republic of China, France, The Russian Federation, The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, The United States of America, Brazil, Germany, India, Japan, and permanent African representation
  - The form of the election process would depend on the outcome of discussions
- Non-permanent members with a two-year term
  - We support moderate expansion in the number of non-permanent seats

b) Regional representation: We do not support proposals for regional representation on the Security Council as this would be at odds with the fundamental tenets of the UN Charter, which makes clear that admission to the UN is extended to individual states.

- New members to the Security Council should be picked so as to make it more broadly representative of the modern world. Still, it is for the whole UN membership to designate new permanent members and to elect all non-permanent members.

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council

- We support a reformed Security Council whose membership would number somewhere in the mid-20s.

(ii) Working methods of the Council

- We believe that this is a separate discussion from the question of enlargement and, moreover, a matter for consideration by the Security Council, not the General Assembly

d) The question of the veto:

- We would not oppose extension of the veto to new permanent members if the candidates to such permanent membership were to pursue such an extension.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly

- We should continue to work towards improving cooperation between these two important organs so that the UN can function as effectively as possible.
The Permanent Representative of the Slovak Republic

to the United Nations

New York, 10/2015
Ref.: 1266/2015/USSM1-RG

Excellency,

I have the honour to reply to your letter dated 26 March 2015 in which you requested delegations, in your capacity as Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiations (IGN) on Security Council reform to complete the framework document providing national positions and proposals. As requested, enclosed please find the submission of the Slovak Republic.

Slovakia sees the UN as the main international forum to respond to global challenges. The UN is and stays the cornerstone of the international order, the most effective way of multilateral diplomacy, the appropriate forum where the broadest possible agreement can be achieved and the only establishment that can face global challenges that no other grouping of states (no matter how broad or strong) could handle. There is no alternative to the UN.

Slovakia continues to promote the strengthening of the effectiveness of the UN in key areas, such as management, peacekeeping and the financial sustainability of the UN. We support the discussions and processes aimed at making the work of all the UN bodies more effective. This process needs to be inclusive and in dialogue with all the member states with possibility to engage other stakeholders (NGOs, civil society). The UN is the only global organization and its effective functioning should be in the interest of all of us.

Slovakia continues to support the reform of the UN System and of its bodies, including the comprehensive reform of the UN Security Council so that it better reflects the needs of the current world and that atrocities like those in Syria will never be repeated.

His Excellency
Mr. E. Courtenay Rattray
Ambassador, Permanent Representative of Jamaica to the United Nations
Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiations on Security Council reform
Permanent Mission of Jamaica
to the United Nations
New York
Our position reflects our view at the current deliberations, stemming from the need for more inclusive, consensus building and pragmatic approach that requires concessions from all stakeholders also vis-à-vis previous positions.

There is no reason for delays in this process. But given the complexity of the issue and the need for the widest possible consensus the process should not be rushed by setting artificial deadlines.

Please accept, Excellency, the renewed assurances of my highest consideration.

František Ražička
Ambassador
Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary
a) Categories of membership:
- Permanent members - a total of 10 seats
  - The People’s Republic of China, France, the Russian Federation, The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, The United States of America
  - In the event of possible expansion consensual/unanimous endorsement of the regional group + respective decision/acclamation of the UN General Assembly
- Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of 15 seats
  - In the event of possible expansion, current rules of procedure for the election of non-permanent members should apply;
- Any new category - Slovakia is open for discussion on a new category of membership, provided it does not compromise the effectiveness of the UNSC decision making, creates opportunity (maybe for an interim period) for those Member States that wish to assume higher responsibility; and provides an acceptable platform for regional leading member states to do so if endorsed by the regional group.
  - In the event of possible expansion, election process to be decided by the rules of procedure, ideally on principle of regional endorsement.

b) Regional representation:
- Slovakia is of the opinion that African continent should be better represented in the reformed UNSC, if possible in both categories of membership (or in new one), provided that countries of the African Group express their wish to do so;
- Slovakia as well supports the idea, should there be a decision to increase the number of the non-permanent members, that the representation of the EEG should be duly respected and reflected (increase by 1);
- If Member States decide to consider the option how to increase inclusivity and equality of Member States by enabling chances of small member states to be elected to the UNSC, Slovakia will support such a motion;
- The endgame should inter alia:
  - Close the gap between regional groups – improve rotations;
  - Increase the presence of Africa in the UN
  - Increase the presence of Arab countries;
  - Increase the presence of AP group of states
  - Increase the presence of EEG countries;
- Introduce representation of “small states” (optional).

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council: a total of 25 seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
Reform of the Security Council working methods by ad hoc innovation in specific cases is a realistic goal. But learning from past innovations and adapting them creatively for new cases are also likely to suffer as a result of rapid rotation of people. Slovakia welcomes the initiatives of Member States (i.e., 55);
Among possible ways of improving working methods following suggestions may be considered:
a) improved format of meetings (with predictable and timely communication to the membership at large);
b) further development of more meaningful relationship with international organizations;
c) more effective opportunities for access and participation by actors who are parties to issues before the Council or are specially affected by them;
d) presidency wrap-up debates at the end of term;
e) further improvements in the process for input by the TCCs into decisions related to the design of peacekeeping operations.

d) The question of the veto:
- Status of the permanent member of the UNSC is both a privilege and a responsibility — including the right of veto. All countries being considered as potential permanent members and countries that have the ambition to be considered should have the ability to carry all the responsibility that comes with UNSC duties and be able to prove in deeds that they do deserve it and are ready to take up this responsibility;

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
- Slovakia respects the functions and competencies of the principle UN organs as per the UN Charter and is open to constructive discussions to improve relations among principal organs.
Framework Document

For inputs from Member States

Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:
- Permanent members - a total of up to 11 seats
  - The People’s Republic of China, France, The Russian Federation, The United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, The United States of America
- Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of up to 25 seats
- Any increase in permanent membership should be accompanied by an expansion in non-permanent membership

b) Regional representation:
- Appropriate geographic balance across the full membership of the Council
  - To better reflect contemporary geopolitical realities, including greater representation from Asia, Africa and Latin America

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of 21-26 seats
- Important that Council membership remains at a workable size

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
- Important to continue to improve the transparency and accessibility of the Council, including:
  - Improved consultations with troop and police contributing countries
  - Greater coordination with other UN organs as well as regional and sub-regional organisations

d) The question of the veto:
- Consistent with Australia’s historical opposition to the veto, the veto should not be extended to new permanent members
- The initiative on restraint of the use of the veto in situations of mass atrocity deserves close attention and ambitious follow-up, and could be taken forward independently of broader Security Council reforms

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
- The Security Council should submit a more comprehensive and analytical annual report to the General Assembly

- Any other related matters:
Peru

Framework Document

a) Categories of membership:

Peru favors an increase in the number of members of the Security Council in order to make it more democratic and representative, in particular broadening the participation of countries from Latin America and the Caribbean, Asia, and Africa.

Peru supports an increase in both categories of members: permanent and non-permanents. The election process of new members should remain as a prerogative of the General Assembly.

Peru is open to the possibility of establishing an intermediate category of members with a long mandate, which could eventually become permanent members. This can be considered as a constructive evolution formula.

b) Regional representation

The Security Council composition should reflect an equitable regional representation.

c) The size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council

In order to reflect an equitable regional representation, the reformed Council membership should be enlarged to a number of members in the "mid-twenties".

Methods of work conducive to a more efficient, transparent, democratic, and representative Security Council should include more open sessions, an improved system of consultations with troop contributing countries when discussing the mandates of peacekeeping operations, and a greater access for the whole membership to information regarding the work of the Council.

Moreover, the decision-taking process in the Council should be reformulated. Currently, non-procedural decisions require unanimity of the five permanent members, while this requirement can be reduced to the affirmative vote of two of them.

d) The question of veto

The veto is an exception to the principle of equal sovereignty among States, and it should be progressively eliminated. In the meanwhile, the exercise of the veto should be circumscribed to decisions under Chapter VII of the Charter, and its use should be restrained in cases of genocide, crimes against humanity and systematic violations of human rights and international humanitarian law.

In the same context, Peru considers that, as a previous step towards the elimination of the veto, in case a permanent member decides to exercise it, its decision must be explained and properly sustained in a public session of the Council.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly

It is fundamental to strengthen the role and authority of the General Assembly as the main body of the Organization. The competence of the General Assembly includes issues related to the maintenance of international peace and security, as stated in article 11 of the United Nations Charter.
The PERMANENT MISSION OF PARAGUAY TO THE UNITED NATIONS, presents its compliments to the UNITED NATIONS – PERMANENT MISSION OF JAMAICA TO THE UNITED NATIONS, and has the honor to refer to the letter of H.E. Ambassador Courtenay Rattray, Permanent Representative of Jamaica and President of the Intergovernmental Negotiations on Security Council Reform, dated March 26, 2015.

In this regard, this Permanent Mission is pleased to attach the framework document with the position and proposals of the Republic of Paraguay on this matter.

The PERMANENT MISSION OF PARAGUAY TO THE UNITED NATIONS avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the UNITED NATIONS – PERMANENT MISSION OF JAMAICA TO THE UNITED NATIONS, the assurances of its highest consideration.

b) Regional representation:
- Paraguay supports the implementation of geographical criteria in order to allow all regions to have an adequate presence within the enlarged Council.

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of ... seats

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
- For the sake of transparency and inclusiveness, the enlarged Council should hold more open meetings, to improve the flow of information and exchange of ideas between members of the Council and other Member States.

- For the sake of accountability, the enlarged Council should submit more comprehensive and analytical reports to the General Assembly and should facilitate more interaction with other UN bodies or legal institutions such as the International Criminal Court of Justice, the Permanent Court of Arbitration and the International Criminal Court.

- The reform of the working methods should ensure participation on an equal footing of Permanent Members and Non-permanent Members within the Security Council.

d) The question of the veto:
- Paraguay supports the total elimination of the veto.
  - To this end, it is in favor of its progressive elimination.
e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

- The enlarged Council is accountable to the General Assembly, since the Council acts on behalf of the wider membership of the UN. Member States have the right and duty to duly know and analyze the work of the Council.

- The relationship between the enlarged Council and the General Assembly must be of collaboration.

- Both organs should work closely together within their respective areas as established in the Charter.

Any other related matters:

- Review clause: Paraguay supports the inclusion of a "review clause" that will allow Member States to carry out periodic revisions of the decisions made under this process.

- Time and work schedules: In order to organize the negotiations, Paraguay supports the idea of setting a reasonable timeframe and work schedule.

- Decision-making: Only the decisions made by consensus will have the necessary legitimacy to be implemented; nonetheless, if consensus is not reached, Paraguay considers that the rules of procedure of the General Assembly regarding the vote should be applied.

- Text for negotiations: The negotiations must continue with a text. The text must reflect all the positions presented by Member States.

Permanent Mission of Jamaica to the United Nations
New York
a) Categories of membership:

- Non-permanent members with a two-year term.
  - Any increase in the non-permanent membership of the SC should ensure an enhanced representation of the Eastern European Group by the allocation to the said Group of one additional non-permanent seat in the enlarged Council (A/59/723).

b) Regional representation:

- Any change in the Security Council composition should be based on the existing regional groups.
- The reform should envisage increased representation in the Council of developing countries from Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.
- The Eastern European Regional Group should be provided with one additional non-permanent seat.

c) (ii) Working methods of the Council:

- To further enhance the transparency, accountability and inclusiveness of the Council’s work, with a view to strengthening its effectiveness, through, inter alia:
  - broader consultations and other forms of interaction with non-Council members on a regular basis;
  - meeting, as a general rule, in a public format;
  - frequent, timely and qualitative briefings on the matters discussed in the Security Council and its subsidiary organs in private meetings, including “horizon-scanning” sessions;
  - holding more regular and timely consultations with troop and police contributing countries and other states with particular engagement in UN peace operations, both during elaboration of their mandates and throughout their entire life cycle;
  - making more frequent use of open debates on working methods.
- To explore ways of increasing the role of non-permanent members in the Council’s proceedings and decision-making.
- Continue to improve Council’s handling of sanctions regimes, primarily in spelling out concrete conditions for lifting, streamlining listing and delisting procedures, providing for periodic assessment.

d) The question of the veto:
- Member States should aim for phasing out of the veto. As a first step, permanent members of the Security Council should voluntarily and collectively pledge not to use the veto in case of mass atrocities, genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes on a large scale.
- Should the veto be used in other cases, the permanent member resorting to it has to be invited to explain the reason for this action, in particular with regard to its consistency with the purposes and principles of the UN Charter, and to circulate a copy of the explanation as a Council document.
- The veto should not in any case be used for blocking Council’s action in the event of aggression against a UN Member State.
- The permanent members should recommit themselves to the Article 27 (3) of the UN Charter obliging a party to a dispute to abstain from voting.

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
- Establishing closer, more frequent and meaningful interaction between the Presidents of the Security Council, General Assembly, Economic and Social Council and Peacebuilding Commission.
- Security Council’s annual reports to the General Assembly shall provide substantive, comprehensive and analytical evaluation of the work of the Council.
- Security Council shall submit, when necessary, special reports to the General Assembly in accordance with Article 24 (3) of the Charter.
- To establish closer interaction between the Security Council, in particular its Working Group on Peacekeeping Operations, and the UNGA Special Committee on Peacekeeping Operations (C-34).

Excellency,

I have the honor to write to you in your capacity as Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiation on the Security Council Reform (IGN), and regarding your letter dated March 26, 2015, I would like to attach herewith the inputs of Cuba to the framework document.

I avail myself of this opportunity, Excellency, to renew to you the assurances of my highest and distinguished consideration.

Rodolfo Reyes Rodríguez
Ambassador
Permanent Representative of Cuba to the United Nations

H.E. Mr. Courtenay Rattray
Ambassador Permanent Representative
Chair of the Intergovernmental Negotiation on the Security Council Reform (IGN)
Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:

- Permanent members - a total of () seats

Cuba favorece la expansión del Consejo de Seguridad tanto en la categoría de miembros permanentes como no permanentes. El objetivo principal de la expansión del Consejo de Seguridad debe ser rectificar la sub-representación de los países en desarrollo. Por tanto, el incremento principal en esa categoría debe corresponder a los países en desarrollo de África, Asia y América Latina y el Caribe. Deben ingresar como nuevos miembros permanentes, como mínimo, dos países de África, dos países en desarrollo de Asia y dos países de América Latina y el Caribe.

[In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats.]

El objetivo principal de la expansión del Consejo de Seguridad debe ser rectificar la sub-representación de los países en desarrollo. No puede ser ampliar por ampliar. La ampliación del Consejo no debe ser parcial o selectiva, ni implicar un incremento de los miembros del Consejo que vaya en detrimento de los países en desarrollo. El incremento principal en esa categoría debe ser en el número de países en desarrollo de África, Asia y América Latina y el Caribe en el Consejo. Los nuevos miembros permanentes deben tener exactamente las mismas prerrogativas y derechos que los actuales, incluyendo el veto, sin que se establezcan criterios selectivos o discriminatorios. De no ampliarse la categoría de miembros permanentes y hacerlo solo en el número de puestos no permanentes, se ampliaría aún más la brecha existente entre miembros permanentes y no permanentes; aumentaría la desproporción entre la representación de países desarrollados y países en desarrollo en el Consejo; el Consejo sería aún menos representativo, y por tanto, menos legítimo y efectivo.

- Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of () seats

1 "[...]" denotes a space intended for numerical values whereas "[...]" is intended for the inclusion of text.
Cuba favorece también la ampliación del número de puestos de miembros no permanentes. Los nuevos puestos de miembros no permanentes deben tener exactamente las mismas prerrogativas y derechos que los actuales, sin que se establezcan criterios selectivos o discriminatorios.

El número de puestos de miembros no permanentes con dos años de mandato debe ampliarse a un total de, al menos, 15.

- [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for seats.]

[Cuba no se opondría a la realización inmediata de los miembros no permanentes.]

- [Any new category.]

- [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats.]

[Cuba no favorece la creación de nuevas categorías o subcategorías de miembros. Las nuevas categorías incrementarían las diferencias existentes y estimularían la división entre los miembros del Consejo de Seguridad, en lugar de contribuir al mejor funcionamiento del Consejo. Por ejemplo, el ingreso de nuevos miembros permanentes sin poder de veto, equivaldría a crear una nueva categoría, lo cual Cuba no apoya.]

b) Regional representation:

- [La composición actual del Consejo de Seguridad no refleja las realidades geopolíticas y por tanto, necesita ser reequilibrado. Los países en desarrollo están sub-representados en el Consejo. El principal objetivo de la ampliación del Consejo debe ser la rectificación de la insuficiente representación de países en desarrollo de África, Asia y América Latina actualmente en ese órgano. El hecho de que los países en desarrollo no estén representados adecuadamente en el Consejo de Seguridad socava los intereses del Consejo, su autoridad y credibilidad.]

c) (i) The size of an enlarged Security Council- a total of (no menos de 26) seats. Con esa cifra la proporción entre miembros del Consejo de Seguridad y de Estados miembros de la ONU al menos se acercaría a la proporción que tenía al ser fundada la Organización.

(ii) Working methods of the Council:

- [Es necesaria una reforma urgente y profunda de los métodos de trabajo del Consejo de Seguridad para garantizar que este funcione como un órgano transparente, democrático y representativo.
La cuestión de los métodos de trabajo está interrelacionada a otras cuestiones, particularmente aquellas relativas a la ampliación del Consejo y al veto. No habrá una verdadera reforma de los métodos de trabajo mientras no se haya ampliado el Consejo en ambas categorías de miembros y los países en desarrollo no estén adecuadamente representados en el mismo.

El Consejo de Seguridad, como regla general y conforme a los Artículos 31 y 32 de la Carta, debe realizar reuniones públicas abiertas a todos los Estados miembros de las Naciones Unidas, a fin de asegurar que estas reuniones brinden oportunidades reales para considerar las opiniones y contribuciones de la más amplia membresía de las Naciones Unidas, particularmente los Estados que no son miembros del Consejo cuyos asuntos están siendo discutidos por ese órgano. Las reuniones a puertas cerradas y las consultas oficiosas deben celebrarse solo en casos muy excepcionales.

El Consejo de Seguridad debe llevar a cabo debates sustantivos sobre temas bajo su consideración, abiertos a todos los Estados miembros, de forma oportuna.

Las sesiones informativas de Enviados Especiales o Representantes del Secretario General y de la Secretaría de las Naciones Unidas deben efectuarse en reuniones públicas, a menos que existan circunstancias excepcionales.

Cuando un país que no es miembro del Consejo de Seguridad solicita una reunión del órgano, esta debe ser convocada inmediatamente por el Consejo, conforme al Artículo 35 de la Carta.

Debe formalizarse el reglamento del Consejo de Seguridad, que continúa siendo provisional desde hace casi 70 años, a fin de aumentar la transparencia y nivel de rendición de cuentas.

El Consejo de Seguridad debe asegurar que sus evaluaciones mensuales sean amplias y analíticas, y que las dé a conocer oportunamente.

Permitir que el Estado concernido, incluso los que no son miembros del Consejo de Seguridad, participen en las discusiones del Consejo sobre las cuestiones que lo afectan directamente, en correspondencia con el Artículo 31 de la Carta.

Asegurar que las opiniones de los Estados Miembros de las Naciones Unidas que se obtengan en debates públicos temáticos se reflejen en las correspondientes resoluciones y declaraciones presidenciales que se adopten, en lugar de la práctica actual de adoptar resoluciones y emitir declaraciones presidenciales sin hacer referencia a dichos debates.

Los órganos subsidiarios del Consejo deben funcionar de modo tal que proporcionen información suficiente y oportuna sobre sus actividades a todos los miembros de las Naciones Unidas.
Garantizar que los países no miembros del Consejo tengan acceso a los órganos subsidarios, incluyendo el derecho a participar en sus discusiones.

- El orden del día del Consejo de Seguridad debe reflejar las necesidades y los intereses de todos los Estados por igual, de manera objetiva, racional, no selectiva y no arbitraria.

- La imposición de sanciones sólo debe considerarse después que se han agotado todos los medios de solución pacífica de controversias en virtud del Capítulo VI de la Carta y se han considerado, cuidadosamente, los efectos a corto y largo plazo de dichas sanciones. Las sanciones no se aplicarán "preventivamente" en casos de simula violación del derecho internacional o de los principios o normas internacionales.

- El Consejo de Seguridad debe seguir fortaleciendo su relación con la Secretaría de las Naciones Unidas y con los países que aportan contingentes a las operaciones de mantenimiento de paz de la ONU, entre otras cosas, mediante una interacción sostenida, periódica y oportuna. Las reuniones con los países que aportan contingentes deberán celebrarse no sólo cuando se vayan a establecerlos mandatos, sino también durante su ejecución, cuando se analiza un cambio, la renovación o la terminación del mandato de una misión, o cuando se produce un rápido empeoramiento de la situación sobre el terreno.

- No se debe recurrir al capítulo VII de la Carta como marco general para abordar problemas que no representen una amenaza para la paz y la seguridad internacionales. El Consejo debe aplicar cabalmente las disposiciones de la Carta según proceda, incluidos los Capítulos VI y VIII, antes de invocar el Capítulo VII, lo cual deberá ser una medida de último recurso, de ser necesaria.

d) The question of the veto:
   - [Es necesario eliminar el veto de manera inmediata por resultar un privilegio anacrónico y antidemocrático.
   - Mientras se alcance el objetivo de la eliminación, deben implementarse mecanismos que restrinjan al máximo posible su uso.]

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:
   - [Es necesario lograr una relación balanceada y eficiente del Consejo de Seguridad y la Asamblea General de Naciones Unidas, generada en el estricto respeto a las disposiciones de la Carta y en correspondencia con los respectivos mandatos de esos órganos.

Asimismo, deben respetarse todas las resoluciones de la Asamblea General que aclaran la relación del Consejo de Seguridad con la Asamblea y los órganos principales. En el Artículo 24 de la Carta no se confiere al Consejo de Seguridad la competencia para abordar las cuestiones que correspondan a las funciones y las facultades de la Asamblea General y del Consejo Económico y Social, en especial en las esferas de establecimiento de normas, legislación, asuntos administrativos y presupuestarios y establecimiento de definiciones.

El Presidente del Consejo de Seguridad y el Presidente de la Asamblea General deben celebrar consultas mensuales de forma regular. En caso de que se produzcan determinadas situaciones, esas consultas deben celebrarse más frecuentemente.

Es necesario garantizar que el Consejo de Seguridad rinda cuentas debidamente a la Asamblea General de Naciones Unidas. El Consejo de Seguridad debe presentar a la Asamblea General un informe anual amplio y analítico en el que se evalúe la labor del Consejo, incluidos los casos respecto de los cuales el Consejo no haya adoptado decisiones, así como los críticos expresados por sus miembros durante el examen de los temas del orden del día que tuvo antes.

El Consejo de Seguridad, conforme a los Artículos 15(1) y 24(3) de la Carta de Naciones Unidas, debe presentar informes especiales para la consideración de la Asamblea General, los cuales, lamentablemente, nunca han sido presentados.

- Any other related matters:
  - [Cuba apoya un proceso de reforma del Consejo de Seguridad basado en un enfoque integral y ampliado, que aborde todas las cuestiones sustantivas relacionadas, entre otras, la cuestión de la membresía, el número de miembros, la representación regional, los métodos de trabajo y el proceso de toma de decisiones, incluido el voto.
  - La reforma del Consejo de Seguridad no puede continuar siendo un objetivo pospuesto e ignorado. No puede existir una reforma real de las Naciones Unidas hasta que no se lleve a cabo una verdadera reforma del Consejo de Seguridad.
  - Se requieren acciones prácticas urgentes.

2 Placeholder for Member States who may wish to address other related matters necessitated by enlargement
- Cuba no favorece el establecimiento de plazos artificiales, lo que impide un desarrollo normal del proceso de negociación. Tampoco apoyamos maniobras dilatorias dirigidas a continuar retrasando el logro de resultados concretos. En términos prácticos, ello equivaldría a perpetuar el status quo del Consejo de Seguridad. No hacer nada y posponer indefinidamente la reforma del Consejo de Seguridad no es una opción aceptable para Cuba.

- Detener de inmediato la tendencia creciente en el Consejo de Seguridad a la expansión de lo que constituye una amenaza a la paz y la seguridad internacionales.
Issues of categories of membership; the question of the veto; regional representation; size of an enlarged Security Council and working methods of the Council; and the relationship between the Council and the General Assembly.

a) Categories of membership:
- Permanent members - a total of (...) seats

Cuba endorses the enlargement of the Security Council in the categories of permanent members and non-permanent members. The main objective of the enlargement of the Security Council should be to rectify the underrepresentation of developing countries. Therefore, the increase in such categories should mostly stem from developing countries from Africa, Asia and Latin America and the Caribbean. At least two developing countries from Africa, two from Asia and two others from Latin America and the Caribbean should enter the Council as new permanent members.

- [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats...]

The main objective of the enlargement of the Security Council should be to rectify the underrepresentation of developing countries. It must not expand by default. The enlargement of the Security Council should not be partial or selective, nor should it imply an increase in the number of members to the detriment of developing countries. The main increase for such categories should be in the number of developing countries from Africa, Asia and Latin America and the Caribbean. New permanent members should have exactly the same privileges and rights as the ones enjoyed by the current permanent members, including the right to veto, without selective or discriminatory criteria being established. If the category of permanent members is not expanded and only the number of non-permanent seats increases, the gap between permanent and non-permanent members will widen, along with the disparity in the representation of developed and developing countries, the Council will become even less representative and consequently, less legitimate or effective.

- Non-permanent members with a two-year term - a total of (...) seats

"(...)" denotes a space intended for numerical values whereas "[...]" is intended for the inclusion of text.
Likewise, Cuba endorses an enlargement in the number of non-permanent seats. New non-permanent seats should have exactly the same privileges and rights as the ones enjoyed by the current non-permanent members, without selective or discriminatory criteria being established.

The number of non-permanent members for a term of two years should increase to 15 at least.

- [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for seats.]

[Cuba would not oppose to immediate re-election of non-permanent members]

- [Any new category...]

- [In the event of possible expansion, description of an election process for new seats.]

[Cuba does not favor the creation of new categories or sub-categories of member States. New categories would intensify current differences and would motivate division among members of the Security Council in lieu of contributing to more effective operation thereof. For instance, the accession of new permanent members without the right to veto would result in a new category, which is not supported by Cuba.]

b) Regional representation:

- [The current composition of the Security Council does not reflect geopolitical realities, for which it needs to be balanced. Developing countries are underrepresented in the Council. The main objective of the enlargement of the Security Council should be to rectify the underrepresentation of developing countries from Africa, Asia and Latin America and the Caribbean in such body. The fact that developing countries are not properly represented in the Security Council undermines its own interests, authority and credibility.]

(i) The size of an enlarged Security Council - a total of (not less than 26) seats. With this number, the proportion between the members of the Security Council and Member States of the United Nations would approach the proportion there was at the time the Organization was founded.

(ii) Working methods of the Council:
• An urgent and thorough reform of the working methods of the Security Council is necessary in order to ensure that it functions as a transparent, democratic and representative body.

• The working methods issue is related to other issues, particularly those concerning the enlargement of the Security Council and the veto. There will not be a true reform of the working methods if the Council is not expanded in both categories and developing countries are not properly represented.

• The Security Council, as a general rule and in compliance with articles 31 and 32 of the Charter, should convene public meetings open to all Member States of the United Nations in order to ensure that these meetings provide actual opportunity to bring opinions and contributions of the broadest membership of the United Nations into consideration, in particular, those of the States that are not members of the Council and which issues are discussed by this body. Closed meetings and informal consultations should be held only in exceptional cases.

• The Security Council should carry out substantive debates on topics of its own consideration and open to all Member States.

• Briefings of Special Envoys or Representatives of the Secretary General and the Secretariat of the United Nations should be carried out in public meetings, unless there are extraordinary circumstances.

• When a country that is not member of the Security Council requests a meeting thereof, it should be convened immediately by the Council in pursuance of Article 35 of the Charter.

• The Council’s rules of procedure should be formalized in order to ensure transparency and accountability, since they have been provisional for over 70 years.

• The Security Council should guarantee that its monthly evaluations be broad and analytic and should make them opportune known.

• It should allow the concerning State, including those that are not members of the Security Council, participate in the Council’s discussions on issues that directly affect them under Article 31 of the Charter.

• It should guarantee that the opinions of Member States of the United Nations obtained in thematic public debates be reflected in the adopted relevant resolutions and presidential statements, in lieu of the current practice of adopting resolutions and delivering presidential statements without any reference to such debates.

• Subsidiary bodies of the Council should work in such a way that they provide sufficient and opportune information on their activities to all members of the United Nations. It should ensure that non-member states have access to subsidiary bodies, including the right to participate in their discussions.

- The Council's agenda should equally reflect all States' needs and interests in an objective, rational, non-selective and non-arbitrary manner.

- Imposing sanctions should only be considered after all means have been exhausted for a peaceful solution of disputes in accordance with Chapter VI of the Charter, and long- and short-term effects of such sanctions have been carefully pondered. Sanctions should not be applied "preventatively" in cases of mere violation of International Law or international principles and standards.

- The Security Council should continue to strengthen its relationship with the Secretariat of the United Nations and the countries that contribute troops to peacekeeping operations, inter alia, by means of a sustained, periodic and opportune interaction. Meetings with countries contributing troops should be convened not only when mandates will be established, but also during their implementation, when a change, renewal or completion of a mission's mandate is analyzed, or if a sudden worsening of the situation on the ground occurs.

- Resort to Chapter VII of the Charter as an umbrella for addressing issues that do not pose a threat to international peace and security should be avoided. The Council should fully apply the provisions in the Charter as applicable, including chapters VI and VIII, before referring to Chapter VII, which should be the last option if ever necessary.

d) The question of the veto:

- "It is indispensable to eliminate the veto immediately for being an anachronistic and undemocratic privilege."

- "While its elimination is attained, other mechanisms should be implemented in order to limit its use to the extent possible."

e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

- "It is necessary to attain a balanced and efficient relationship between the Security Council and the General Assembly, based on strict respect to the provisions of the Charter and in accordance with the respective mandates of these bodies.

- Likewise, all resolutions of the General Assembly that clarify the relationship of the Security Council with the General Assembly and the main bodies should be observed. In Article 24 of the Charter, the Security Council is not provided with competence to address issues which fall within the functions and powers of the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Council, especially those related to the establishment of standards, legislation, administrative and budgetary matters and setting definitions.

- The President of the Security Council and the President of the General Assembly should hold monthly consultations in a regular basis. If any specific situation arises, such consultations should be more frequent.

- It is necessary to guarantee the Security Council's accountability to the General Assembly. It should submit to the General Assembly a broad and analytic yearly report, assessing its work and including those cases in which the Council has not reached any decisions, as well as the remarks by its members during the review of the items of its agenda.

- The Security Council should submit special reports for the consideration of the General Assembly under articles 15(1) and 24(3) of the Charter of the United Nations, which have unfortunately never been submitted.

• Any other related matters:

  - [Cuba endorses a process of reform of the Security Council with a broad and comprehensive approach that addresses all substantive issues including membership, number of members, regional representation, working methods, decision making and the veto.

  - The reform of the Security Council must not be a postponed or ignored goal. A real reform of the United Nations will not be possible without a true reform of the Security Council.

  - Urgent practical actions are a must.

  - Cuba does not endorse the setting of artificial deadlines which only hampers the regular process of negotiation. Nor do we support procrastination tactics aimed at delaying concrete results. In practical terms, that would be equivalent to perpetuating the status quo of the Security Council. Remaining inactive and postponing indefinitely the reform of the Security Council is not an acceptable option for Cuba.

  - The increasing tendency in the Security Council towards expansion of what poses a threat to international peace and security should be stopped.]

2 Placeholder for Member States who may wish to address other related matters necessitated by enlargement.
a) Categories of membership:

Security Council membership should be enlarged in both categories—permanent and non-permanent.

b) Regional representation:

The enlargement should ensure equitable geographic distribution of both permanent and non-permanent seats reflecting current political realities. Due to considerable increase of the Eastern European Group (EEG) membership (since 1991 the EEG has more than doubled its membership), any enlargement of the Security Council should ensure an enhanced representation of the EEG by the allocation to the EEG of at least one additional non-permanent seat in the enlarged Security Council.

Member States should give due consideration during the nomination and election of non-permanent members to adequate representation of small and medium-size Member States.

c) (ii) Working methods of the Council:

Latvia supports improvement of the Security Council working methods in order to increase transparency, inclusiveness and representativeness of its work, thus, enhancing also its legitimacy and the implementation of its decisions. The Security Council would be encouraged to meet, as a general rule, in a public format open to all Member States of the United Nations and make more effective use of informal interactive dialogues.

The Security Council would be invited to consider taking measures to ensure that non-permanent members of the enlarged Security Council hold the Presidency of the Council at least once during their tenure.

d) The question of the veto:

The discussions on the use of the veto in certain circumstances should be continued. Proposals made by some Member States on a voluntary code of conduct regulating the use of the veto in cases of crimes against humanity, war crimes, and genocide certainly merit positive consideration.
e) Relationship between the Council and the General Assembly:

The annual report of the Security Council to the General Assembly should provide an analytical and comprehensive evaluation of the Council's work.
